Picture This! When Standing on the Top Cap of a Stepladder Just Isn’t Dangerous Enough

Most workers wouldn’t dream of standing on the top cap of a stepladder, let alone the uppermost rung. But this worker is raising the stakes by standing on top of a bucket perched on the top cap. If this perilous setup started rocking, the worker holding the bucket would have little chance of preventing a serious fall. (Naval Safety Center)