Speakers Bio: Steven St. Laurent's specialty is safety training that doesn't bore you to death in English and Spanish. He also is the creator of OSHAFLIX: Videos to help with every safety meeting. Finally his company provides free online safety forms that eliminate clutter and scanning as well as help small and medium-size companies create proper documentation without being overwhelmed with paper.

Steve's training career was born when he conducted his first classes (in Spanish) for a cement company across Northern Mexico in the first half of 2002. Since then he has conducted 100s of safety trainings for 1000s of people in construction and manufacturing companies in over 30 states across the U.S. and 2 states in Mexico, often for companies who have experienced a fatality.

Steve currently resides in central Massachusetts with his beautiful bride and their 3 children. He considers it an honor and a privilege to facilitate safety training as it is his passion.

Finally, Steve also presents as a Keynote and Motivational Speaker for safety conferences, corporate meetings, roundtables and other events on topics such as "How to Deliver Dynamic Toolbox Talks and Safety Training", "Cracking the OSHA Nut", "Safety Supervision and Leadership", "How to have a clue regarding Cultural differences (Spanish/English)", among other topics.
