Marine Construction Equipment Safety Fallen Phrases

Answer:

Marine construction equipment is essential for the development of coastal and offshore infrastructure, ensuring economic growth, environmental protection, and sustainable development.

All personnel involved in operating marine construction equipment should receive proper training and certification.