Picture This! I Spy a Contaminated Eyewash Station

Maybe this company has never experienced an eye emergency where a worker needed instant access to an emergency eyewash station to flush contaminants from the eyes. Someone has added a few contaminants of his own to this eyewash station, in the form of dishes. There is a real sink, albeit not a very clean looking one, immediately to the left of this eyewash station, so it is doubly puzzling as to why anyone would place dishes in an emergency eyewash unit. (Naval Safety Center)