Propane Safety Talks Introduction

A well-trained propane workforce is essential in protecting the health and well-being of employees and consumers. Regular discussion of safety topics is an important component in building an effective safety training program for propane industry employees.

PERC has developed a set of 45 Safety Talks to help companies create an environment to discuss specific or timely safety topics, identify potential problems, or highlight specific safety concerns. Safety Talks are designed to be much briefer than full-scale training sources. They are meant to supplement or refresh – not replace – formal training. Each Safety Talk can be presented in 10 to 15 minutes. Safety Talks will help companies keep employees engaged and actively thinking about safety.

In addition to the Safety Talks, an attendance form and trainer tip sheet are available to help enhance and document the safety meeting
