Sheet Metal Work Led to Asbestos Exposure

At the age of 51 a sheet metal worker died of lung cancer. His case was typical of asbestos exposure. He had been exposed during his working career when removing and installing duct work in areas insulated by asbestos.